Weep No More

The young bride has her head on her husband's shoulder as he is driving the new sport car to the mountain hotel for their honeymoon. Her eyes are half closed in an ecstasy of joy. She is loooking into the future. What does it hold? Something akin to a fairy land of promised joy. She sees herself taking care of a neat liittle house; cooking meals for her husband; going out with him; and soon awaiting the first baby. She anticipates a lot of things like any normal bride except one important tragic fact. Namely, that the entire dream may never be translated into reality. For the sudden hand of Death may smash it all. The fact that there are millions of widows in the country today will have no significance whatsoever until it happens to her. As one old grandmother once remarked: "We prepare our girls to handle a lot of situations which never existed when I was young. But now, as then they fail to ever prepare the girl for the toughest one of all — how to be a widow and what to do about it."

It may come through an accident. A skidding car on a rainy day goes through a guard rail. Or a customary checkup by the family doctor gives shocking news. And so a young bride of not more than one year finds herself wearing black for the customary mourning period. What follows? Or to be more definite: What should follow?

She may withdraw from the many friends they have. She may even have a nervous breakdown. She may feel she is "tied to the dead" and continue to live only with the memory of her beloved one. And she may change completely. Also she may have to face the fact that she has to go out and work for a living. The most important point she has to bear in mind is that she a life to live and a future ahead of her. At the beginning there may be willing friends and relatives that want to help her. But they too have their own lives and problems to meet. So shortly she will be on her own and often with nobody to turn to just when she needs sound and helpful advice. So here are the major things a widow should hear in mind:

First: The man you loved so much is dead. Nothing can bring him back again. You may see him in your dreams night after night. You may even find yourself talking to him at the breakfast table as though he were alive and right there in the room. When something unexpected happens you may even call out his name for help. All this is normal, because it does take some time to make the adjustment to reality — the fact that he is no longer at your side. But you prolong this period you step from reality into the land of unreality which can be mentally very dangerous for you. Bitter as it may be you must accept the fact that he is no longer here and make plans for a new life without him.

Second: Meditations in the land of "If" can upset you emotionally when you begin to feel that somehow you were in a way to blame for his death. This is sometimes known as "Culpa Mia." Which means you feel you are guilty for what had happened. It was a rainy night and he wanted to go out to see the client. "Why didn't I insist he remain at home," you tell yourself over and over again. "It was my fault I let him go out that night, otherwise the car would never had skidded." Or, "We should have gone to see that specialist as soon as he complained of the pain in his side. I should have insisted on it. He would have been alive today."

You had no crystal ball that would help you or your late beloved husband to look into the future. What happened happened and you must not blame yourself for the event. You are looking backwards and figuring out what took place after you know all the facts. So get that idea out of your mind. In no way were you to blame for what happened.

Third: Your husband has left all his possessions behind and they are now all yours. But with these possessions will be the constant reminder of his existence and he no lonegr exists. There is the rifle for which he saved up the money, dollar by dollar to buy. There are the hunting boots you gave him as a present. There are the ice skates he won in a contest. There is the expensive overcoat he just bought. If you keep these items they will conjure up his "existence." So it is best after a period of time give them away. And don't let any friends or relative try to tell you, "He wanted you to keep them, he didn't want them in a stranger's hand."

Fourth: Whatever he left you in insurance, cash or securities will not last a lifetime. You'd better do some calculations in a hurry. For you, as for most widows, it means you will have to earn a living. If you had a job before you were married, it will not be too difficult to take up in the business world where you left off. However if you didn't have a job before you were married, this means read justment to the situation. For you will need some kind of a training for the better paid jobs. You can go to business school and study shorthand, typing, and the elements of bookkeeping. Or you might even want to go to college and prepare for something entirely different from being a teacher to being a nurse. If you have sufficient funds and the mental ability it might not be a bad idea to prepare for a profession. Study is good for you because it will take your mind off the "past".

Fifth: You have to take a new look at the friends and acquaintances that you and your husband had. If you are going to be a crying female or constantly wear a sad face the invitations will go down to a zero. Behind your back they will say — and that even includes your relatives: "No use inviting her to that party. She will throw a damper on it." So you have to act cheerful and be pleasant. But will those friendships and acquaintances continue? A lot depends upon the situations that caused them to arise.

Those that arose out of your husband's business activities or his sport associations will in the course of time vanish, because the situation that produced them no longer exists. Also those that were with "other married couples" will also probably vanish. You'd be surprised at the resentment and hatred that can arise when there is an unattached female in a married group of people. Women that once were friendly can become jealous and suspicious. But as you do things situations arise and you meet new people.

Sixth: You will have to be alert and constantly on guard for a type of male known as "The Widow's Wolf." Bluntly speaking he considers you fair game in more than one way. He may appear on the scene as an old friend of your husband. He wants to help you and advise you with your financial problems. When you get through with him you won't have a cent left. Keep your money in the savings bank; consult your attorney before you make a move; and learn something about sound securities. The promise to give you twenty per cent on your money may end up with you being flat broke.

The male may also have his eyes on you in another way and you have to be on guard not to make a false move so as to encourage him. And if you are smart enough you figure out what he is figuring and then ditch him at once.

Seventh: You are probably a different persor than the young girl you once were when yo married your deceased husband. The woman ot twenty five is mature with different states and outlooks than the girl of eighteen she was when she was married. Don't try to do the impossible to see if you can be the girl you were when you first got married. This is impossible. Accept your matured self and study it carefully. You may have picked up some new and undesirable traits and habits. Eliminate them.

Eighth: Your world of men has not ended. You should go out with men and decide you will marry again. But you have to be honest with yourself and with the man. He isn't going to be a "substitute" for your first husband. He is a new man for a new life. It is a bit dangerous to look around for a man who has the same character, traits, background, and mental ability of your first husband. No self respecting male wants to step into the shoes of another man. Besides you might realize with your maturity there are other types of men, entirely different from your first husband that can make good husbands. Your first husband was a salesman. The second might be a teacher, a taxi driver, or even a bricklayer.

It may be difficult for you to see that once again you have to be attractive, interesting, and appealing to a single man. Don't be resentful about this. True, you aren't the teen-ager any longer. You're a little wiser and perhaps a bit sadder, but love can come a second time. Keep your heart open and recognize it when it does knock at your heart. And never for a second ever feel you are "unfaithful" to your deceased husband if you remarry. You are morally entitled to your happiness as a married woman.

LEST WE FORGET: GEORGE WASHINGTON

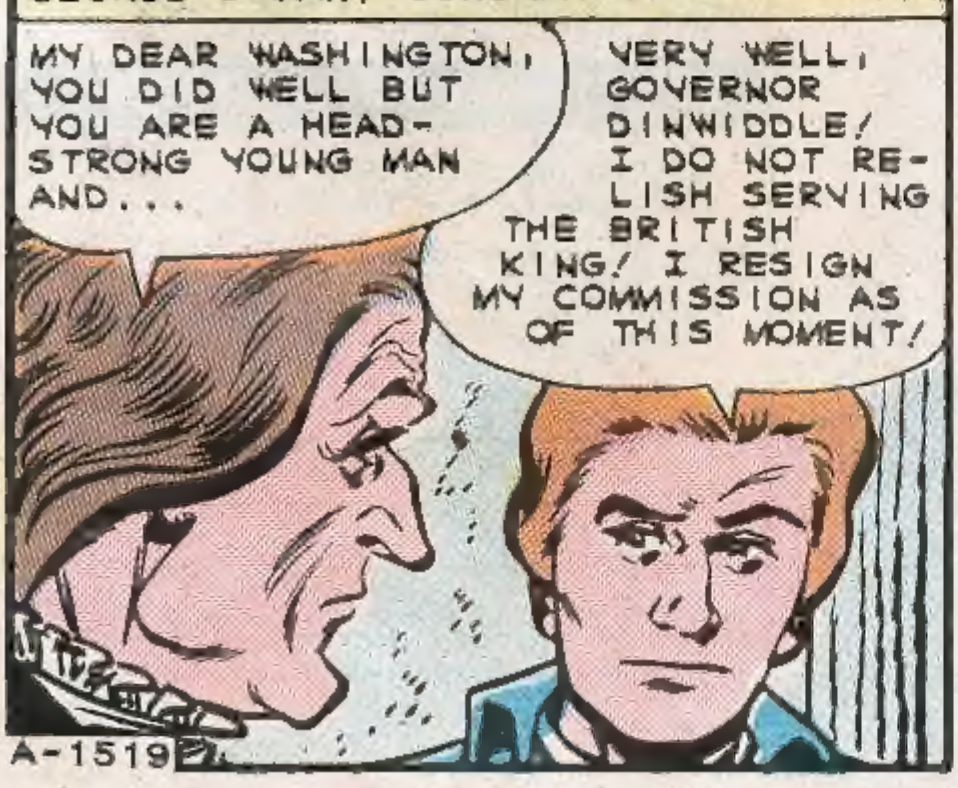
THE MAN NAMED FATHER OF OUR COUNTRY IS GENERALLY PICTURED AS HE WAS IN HIS LATER YEARS, ASTRIDE HIS HORSE, COMMANDING THE REVOLUTIONARY ARMIES! THIS MAN, OUR FIRST PRESIDENT, WAS NOT ALWAYS A GENERAL...HE WAS A TEEN-AGER ONCE... AT SIXTEEN, HE WAS A MAP-MAKER AND SURVEYOR, MAPPING THE RIVERS AND MOUNTAINS IN THE HOSTILE IRIQUOIS COUNTRY!

A-1579

HE WAS COMMISSIONED A MAJOR IN THE VIRGINIA REGIMENT AT 20...

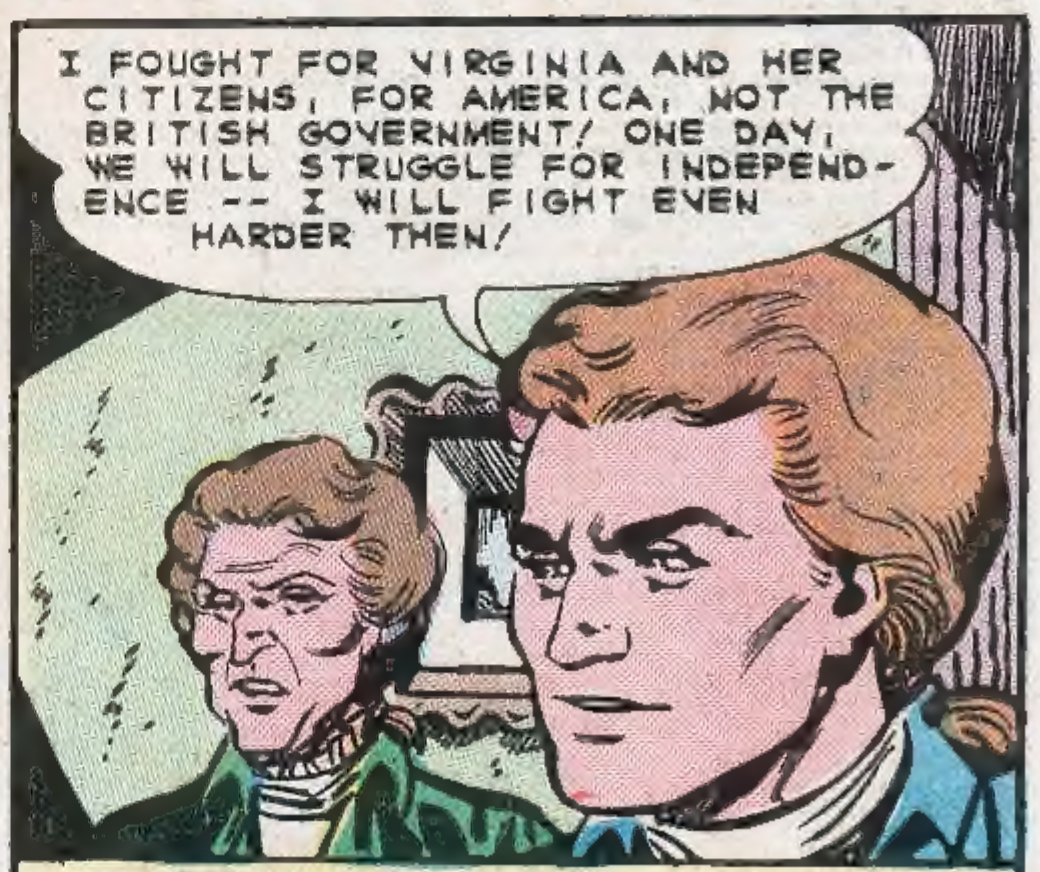
HE WAS A LT-COLONEL AT 21... LEADING 120 MEN WEST TO REINFORCE THE BRITISH AT FORT DUQUESNE! THE FIRST BATTLE OF THE FRENCH AND INDIAN WAR WAS FOUGHT NEAR FORT NECESSITY...

HE RETURNED TO VIRGINIA A HERO BUT GEORGE WASHINGTON DIDN'T ACCEPT THE MEDALS AND ADULATION BLINDLY! HE WAS THINKING AHEAD, THINKING OF AMERICA EVEN AS GOVERNOR DINWIDDIE, KING GEORGE'S MAN, CONGRATULATED HIM...



MY DEAR WASHINGTON, YOU DID WELL BUT YOU ARE A HEAD-STRONG YOUNG MAN AND...
VERY WELL, GOVERNOR DINWIDDLE! I DO NOT RELISH SERVING THE BRITISH KING! I RESIGN MY COMMISSION AS OF THIS MOMENT!

A-1519



I FOUGHT FOR VIRGINIA AND HER CITIZENS, FOR AMERICA, NOT THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT! ONE DAY, WE WILL STRUGGLE FOR INDEPENDENCE -- I WILL FIGHT EVEN HARDER THEN!

HE BEGAN SERVING HIS COUNTRY IN HIS TEENS - AND DEDICATED HIS LIFE TO THAT SERVICE! REMEMBER HIM... LEST WE FORGET!

An Amazing Invention—"Magic Art Reproducer"

DRAW ANY PERSON IN ONE MINUTE!

NO TALENT! NO LESSONS!

You Can Draw Your Family, Friends, Anything From REAL LIFE—Like An Artist . . . Even If You CAN'T DRAW A Straight Line!

Anyone Can Draw With This Amazing New Invention—Instantly!

Complete for only $1.98 De Luxe Model—with extra high power, extra clear and sharp "reproducer" unit.

A New Hobby Gives You a Brand New Interest!

Yes, anyone from 5 to 80 can draw or sketch or paint anything now . . . the very first time you use the "Magic Art Reproducer" like a professional artist—no matter how "hopeless" you think you are! An unlimited variety and amount of drawings can be made. Art is admired and respected by everyone. Most hobbies are expensive, but drawing costs very little, just some inexpensive paper, pencils, crayons, or paint. No costly upkeep, nothing to wear out, no parts to replace. It automatically reproduces anything you want to draw on any sheet of paper. Then easily and quickly follow the lines of the "picture image" with your pencil . . . and you have an accurate original drawing that anyone would think an artist had done. No guesswork, no judging sizes and shapes! Reproduces black and white and actual colors for paintings. Also makes drawing larger or smaller as you wish. Anyone can use it on any desk, table, board, etc.—indoors or outdoors! Light and compact to be taken wherever you wish. No other lessons or practice or talent needed! You'll be proud to frame your original drawings for a more distinctive touch to your home. Give them to friends as gifts that are "different," appreciated.

Have fun! Be popular! Everyone will ask you to draw them. You'll be in demand! After a short time, you may find you can draw well without the "Magic Art Reproducer" because you have developed a "knack" and feeling artists have—which may lead to a good paying art career.
